Information Sessions about the RA Position

If you are interested in receiving more one-on-one information about the RA position, you can talk to a current RA or any Community Director (CD). Also, Residential Life will be offering several information sessions throughout the fall semester for you to attend to view a presentation on the positions and get your specific questions answered by our current staff members. You can ask the presenters about their own experiences and learn about each position. Attending an Information Session is not required to apply for a position.

Interview Tips

Part of our summer selection process are interviews with 2-3 of our current staff members. Here are some tips you may want to consider as you prepare for your individual interview.

1. Prepare for your interview – talk to current staff, think about the questions you may like to ask, and think about the kinds of questions you might be asked as well as personal experiences you might be able to reference in your responses.
2. Be on time – arrive 5-10 minutes prior to the scheduled interview time. This will allow you to relax and gather your thoughts before beginning the interview.
3. Professional dress is preferred-- wear clothes that are appropriate in a professional setting. Cardigan sweaters, khaki pants, and button-down shirts are a few options.
4. Be prepared with questions. The interview is a great time to be with current staff and ask them questions you might have about the positions and the office!

What do we consider in the Paraprofessional Summer Selection Process?

Every part of the Paraprofessional Selection Process is important and is considered when making final selection decisions. Your past behavior within the residential or campus community is also considered. Factors we evaluate include, but are not limited to:

- Your application is reviewed for completeness, accuracy, and timeliness. Your short answers are reviewed for depth of thought, coherence of message, and freedom from errors. References are reviewed and reviewers' comments are considered.
- The interviews are designed to judge your understanding of important concepts related to the position, your ability to put those concepts into words, and to provide examples of how you would respond in the position. Questions for each position are different, but all candidates should think about the following topics:
 - How strong communities are built
 - The impact of positive and negative student behavior on a community

- How you help other students resolve problems or concerns
 - How you work on a team of 8 to 18 people
 - How you will handle this new commitment, should you be hired
 - How you will function in an environment that is multicultural and celebrative of difference
 - How you resolve ethical dilemmas and what the importance of role modeling is
 - The role of “customer service” in the position for which you have applied
- Ways in which Residential Life or UMBC staff have seen you resolve interpersonal conflicts, positively or negatively contribute to your community, or act in groups (student organizations, on your floor, at programs or events, and so on).

Alternate Positions

Every year a number of applicants are chosen as alternates. Being chosen as an alternate means that you are qualified for the position, but we did not have enough vacant positions to offer you a job at this time. Frequently, alternates are offered positions over the summer because some people who have been hired decide they are not able to take the job. Additionally, alternates can be offered positions throughout the course of the academic year. If you are not offered a position during the year, alternates are guaranteed employment for the 2022-2023 academic year. This means you do not need to reapply for the same job the following year.

As an alternate, if a position is offered to you and you choose to decline it, you will be removed from the alternate pool and must reapply if you want a position for the next academic year.

Once you receive the letter stating you are an alternate, you must let Residential Life know that you are accepting the position. If you accept the alternate position, you will need to attend all Spring semester and August training sessions and take the Psych 215 class in the fall semester.

Spring & Fall Training

It is mandatory for all applicants who are hired and who accept the position to attend training sessions throughout the year. If you are hired, the first new paraprofessional training session will be held towards the end of the semester. This session will introduce you to the position and let you know more of the expectations that Residential Life has for you. You will also need to attend a session in the spring to fill out payroll paperwork. There will be a new staff meeting with paraprofessionals from your new staff, as well. The Community Director of the community you will be working in will organize this meeting.

The next training will occur in August and usually begins about two weeks before freshmen move into the halls. August training is mandatory as well and you cannot be a paraprofessional for the 2021-2022 academic year if you do not attend. Training can be intense as it usually begins around 9:00am and ends in the evening but is also a ton of fun!

If you have concerns regarding mandatory training sessions, you can talk to a current paraprofessional, any CD, or contact the Selection Committee.

Psych 215 (Paraprofessional Class)

All Resident Assistants who are hired or chosen as alternates need to register for Psych 215. This is a mandatory class for all paraprofessionals to take during the fall semester. You must pass the class with a C or better in order to continue your employment with Residential Life. More information about when the class will be offered and how to sign up for the class will be included in the letter you receive if you are hired or chosen as an alternate.

Paraprofessional Selection and Housing Selection

Offers for RA positions will be made prior to the deadline to submit housing applications for the next year. If you are offered a position and plan to accept it, you must submit your housing application by the deadline. If you plan to live on-campus next year regardless of whether you are in the position or not, you must submit your housing application by the deadline. If you are unsure that, or know that, you don't want to live-on campus next year, do not submit an application until you are offered a position.

RAs assigned to the apartments and Harbor Hall are able to pick at least one roommate, if they wish.

For questions about how applying for a paraprofessional position will impact your Housing Selection process, contact Operations at 410-455-8832.

Other Residential Life Involvement Opportunities

If you are not hired as a paraprofessional, there are other opportunities for you to get involved with Residential Life which will help to prepare you more for the next time you apply. These opportunities include:

CC – Each community has a CC (Community Council), which is a residential student organization that plans activities and works on improvements for the community. Contact your community director if you are interested in getting involved with your community's CC.

RSA – RSA stands for Resident Student Association. This group governs all of the CCs and helps to create activities and policies for residential students. There are opportunities to get involved on local, regional, and national levels through this organization. If you want more information on how to get involved in RSA, contact Paisley Martin at paisleym@umbc.edu.

Desk Receptionist – Every residential community, except Walker Avenue Apartments, has a desk that is staffed by students. In the residence halls, these desks are open 24 hours a day. Desk receptionist positions are paid hourly and they must also attend mandatory training. If you are interested in applying for a desk staff position, applications will be available on the Residential Life website for the 2021-2022 academic year in March 2021.

Summer Staff – Every summer, Residential Life hires a number of students as conference managers, conference staff, and maintenance assistants. These students assist with summer conferences that are housed in the residential areas and with getting the buildings ready for the next academic year. If you would like to learn more about these positions, please contact Residential Life at 410-455-2591.

Living Learning Communities (LLCs)/Themed Housing

Living Learning Communities are floors where the students have a common interest or major. There are ten LLCs on the UMBC campus at this time. Often, applicants believe that being an RA on a LLC floor means that they will have to do more work. Normally, the RAs on these floors do not do more work than other RAs, they just do different types of work. Their programming may be in conjunction with the office or department that supports that floor or they may do more programming with the same focus as that floor. Being an RA on a Living Learning floor can provide you with a unique experience and residents who are truly involved and invested in their community. If you would like to talk to a current Living Learning Community RA, please contact the Selection Committee and let them know which floors you are interested in and they can put you in contact with that RA.

Below are descriptions of all of the Living Learning Communities that are currently available on campus. You do not have to be a member of the academic program or office that supports the community, but it is highly encouraged.

Center for Women in Technology Living-Learning Community

The CWIT Living-Learning Community (LLC) provides opportunities for women and supportive men majoring in an IT or engineering (ITE) discipline to bond with other students in the same field and create lasting support networks. The CWIT LLC promotes academic excellence, peer mentoring, career exploration, leadership opportunities and social support for students in ITE, with a special emphasis on the needs of women who may feel isolated due to their low enrollment in such majors nationwide. Students in the CWIT LLC participate in a first-year experience course, study groups, ITE career exploration and professional development workshops, and fun social events with other students in the CWIT community. Due to limited space, freshman CWIT Scholars are given priority; however, all students interested in IT and engineering disciplines are encouraged to apply. The CWIT LLC is open to both women and men.

Discovery Scholars Living-Learning Community

The DS LLC provides new students the opportunity to discover their true academic passion at UMBC. Residents live, learn, and grow with fellow students, peer mentors, and professional advisors. Students that are undecided about their major are especially encouraged to apply. As members of the Discovery Scholars Living-Learning Community (LLC) students explore and select the appropriate major and future career that is best suited for their talents and interests. Students have the opportunity to live alongside others who are also exploring different majors and this group will study and learn together while they discover their path at UMBC. In addition to living together, participants have the opportunity to connect with faculty and staff across campus to help ease their academic and social adjustment to college life.

Students are selected to participate in the Discovery Scholars LLC based on their proven academic abilities and diverse interests. Members of this community must enroll in a First Year Seminar (FYS) which will cover a specialized topic as well as transitional skills. Students receive individual attention from the Office of Undergraduate Education and are assigned a professional advisor from the Office of Academic and Pre-Professional Advising to aid them in the successful completion of their first year.

Honors College Living-Learning Community

The Honors College Living-Learning Community offers the opportunity for members of the Honors College to continue their collaborative learning experiences in a relaxed, residential setting.

Students are able to pursue a range of academic and social activities with other members of the Honors College community. At the same time, they will develop strong friendships through common goals, classes, conversation and fun.

Humanities Living-Learning Community

The Humanities Living Learning Community is known to offer some of the best conversation on campus, and offers students interested in the humanities the opportunity to share their passion for culture, language, history, philosophy and literature with other students in the community. This LLC provides opportunities to attend lectures, performances and museums in the Baltimore and Washington, DC area, faculty talks and film discussions. Students majoring/minoring in Africana studies, American studies, ancient studies, Asian studies, cultural anthropology, English, gender and women's studies, history, interdisciplinary studies, media and communication studies, modern languages and linguistics, and philosophy often take part in this community, but students from all departments are encouraged to apply. A variety of perspectives is welcome. Accepting residence on the floor indicates your willingness to attend at least four humanities forum events throughout the year, as well as to contributing to the organization of and participation in other floor activities.

Intercultural Living Exchange

The ILE is a for-credit language immersion and intercultural communication program that offers one credit per semester for completion of ILE activities. Participating students interact with international student mentors (native speakers of Chinese, French, Korean, and Spanish), who organize cultural and social activities, including holiday celebrations, movie nights, international potlucks and excursions to plays, museums and festivals. ILE students earn additional academic credits (up to three academic credits) by completing a service-learning course/project related to their target language and culture.

Shriver Living Learning Center

Live, Learn, and Serve! The SLLC is an active and social living community in Erickson Hall. SLLC is coordinated by the Service-Learning Program at The Shriver Center, UMBC's center for applied learning experiences. The purpose of SLLC is to explore civic engagement with a strong emphasis on relationship-building, leadership, and advocacy. Each semester, SLLC Members commit to serving in the community for 3-5 hours each week at the service-learning placement of their choice. During the fall semester, students participate together in a one-credit course exploring civic engagement in broader contexts. This class integrates reflection of service and civic engagement opportunities around campus with guest speakers from UMBC and community organizations in and around Baltimore. Expectations for this class include participation in class discussions, readings and reflective writing assignments. The class culminates in final presentations related to service. In the spring, SLLC will participate in several field trips and service projects. There may be opportunities for SLLC Members to attend and/or present at local/national conferences about their experiences.

STEM Living-Learning Community

The STEM LLC provides opportunities for students majoring in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics disciplines to connect with other STEM students at UMBC. The STEM LLC will develop intentional connections and relationships among students and expose them to other STEM majors, expand perspectives, create peer mentoring, encourage participation in applied learning experiences, develop leadership skills, foster study group participation, and help with cultural/artistic appreciation. All students with STEM majors are eligible to apply, but preference will be given to students who are accepted into the STEM BUILD@UMBC Program.

Women Involved in Learning and Leadership Program

The WILL program is a living-learning community where students practice leadership skills in a setting that promotes academic excellence and community engagement. Through WILL, students have the opportunity to meet with renowned speakers and activists, to live in the residence hall with other students committed to diverse gender and social justice issues and to work with feminist and other social change organizations. WILL students engage in leadership development opportunities, plan educational and advocacy programs, attend cultural events and participate in public service projects. Some of the events WILL students have organized include a weeklong global women's health action, workshops on feminist activisms, "This Is What A Feminist Looks Like" T- shirt making and The Clothesline Project.

Visual and Performing Arts Living Learning Community

The Visual and Performing Arts Living-Learning Community helps students broaden their understanding of art making and create essential connections across art disciplines. Residents share ideas and learn new skills in a supportive environment of dancers, actors, designers, composers, costumers, musicians and visual artists. Programs for the community offer movie nights, trips to performances, socials and discussions, all focused on the arts. The floor is known for the most passionate, impromptu late-night conversations on campus. It is the UMBC home for the majority of freshman and sophomore Linehan Artist Scholars.

Quiet Lifestyles areas

Floors or apartment buildings which have expanded quiet hours and are more focused on quiet, academically focused lifestyles. Residing on this floor requires special sensitivity to and respect for others.
